Your skin is matter that remembers: Every touch received with presence or without it, met with love or without it. Yogi

A journey of movement, breath, and sound. Using the powerful Humaniversity "Our Sacred Earth" technique, we'll move through three rounds of shaking and dancing to build up energy, release whatever is holding us back, and connect deep into the earth.

It's simple: we shake off the tension, dance into the flow, and finish in stillness and connection. Come as you are - let's start the day with an open heart and a wild spirit.

16:00 - 18:00

Senti dance. Awaken the Fire

Sasha Moksha & Bartek Zieliński

Discover how to ignite power, desire, and ecstasy through feminine-masculine polarity in a dance. Explore how this energy shapes your body, mind, and choices. Step into intimacy with new tools to embody both your leading and receptive, penetrating and surrendering energies.

20:00 - 22:00

From one to Oneness

Noga Maivar

This workshop is a ritual that explores the axis between my relationship with myself and my relationship with others. The encounter can be intimate, erotic, spiritual, or energetic. It is a practice of moving along the axis between the desire to meet oneself and the desire for interaction with others - and the quality of interaction we wish to create.

We will set an intention, and we will move within this space, meeting others through an inquiry into what arises within us.

Tandava Dance

Jakub

Start your morning with Tandava — a slow meditation in motion. This ancient practice from the Kashmiri tantric tradition invites the body into a state of effortless flow, moving freely in a dance of pure presence and connection with the cosmos. This session is a gentle reset for your whole system — calming the mind, releasing held tension, and waking up your capacity for self-healing, peace, joy, and the pleasure of being in your body. A quiet, open beginning before an intense and full day.

11:30 - 13:30
Divine Ridiculous - Ugly Tantra

Daniel Hernandez

All too often we wish to appear as perfect specimens. This is a mistake. Consider: you are approaching orgasm with your lover, you have found just the rhythm that threatens to undo you both — and then the mind, that stubborn trickster, commands the body to hold in a fart.

I have been testing a hypothesis: the pungency of a fart is directly proportional to the shame attached to its release. Ask any child. The sound of a totally shameless fart is divine music. In my cosmology, children are the teachers.

Farts, squelches, belches, slapping noises, groans, grimaces, bodily fluids — these are of equal if not greater importance to any dedicated tantric explorer than the holy utterance OHM.

When does ugly transcend itself and transport us into direct connection with the divine? This workshop draws on Clown, Bouffon, Butoh, Contact Improvisation, Mask, Sacred Sexuality, and Breathwork. There is music, mischief, and party in the practice. Divine Freaks and Exiles will emerge from the shadows, wearing their warts with fantastic pride. We will give permission to our ugliest faces and bodies — discovering how beautiful, powerful, political, sexy, and side-splittingly funny it is to reveal what we hide. The paradox: in sharing the shadowy part, we become more beautiful.

16:00 - 18:00
Sacred Rage Revolution

Maya Magdalena

Non-cathartic, rooted in deep feminine wisdom and the reclamation of the medicinal quality of Authentic Anger and your sense of agency and personal power. Rehabilitate your instincts and reclaim your "fuck no." Let me tell you: anger is not what you think it is...

Have you always dreamt of lipsyncing Britney Spears in drag? Or perform burlesque for the first time on stage? Do you write poetry burning to be heard by audiences? Is there any other talent or non-talent that you have that you would like to be seen in? This is your chance to perform! If you have anything that tickles you about this idea, you can start preparing now - bring anything that you need for the performance with you. Registration for the Non-Talent Show will be on Sunday during the Festival.

Intimately connected in the group field, we alchemize togetherness into a lived experience that continues beyond the festival space.

Haka
Daniel Berman

Through the haka ritual, which originates from the Māori culture in New Zealand (in Māori - Aotearoa), we are invited to connect to our inner power and fire, fostering a sense of confidence and assertiveness while releasing trapped energy and reducing emotional and physical tension. We will also bond together as a unit, with the group empowering the individual and vice versa.

11:30 - 13:30
Lecture: No-nonsense financial education for Shamans
Raffaello Manacorda

As people who choose an embodied way of living, we need to deal with Money. But when it comes to money and finance, many of us fall into magical thinking, illusions, and distortions. In this lecture, my intention is to dissolve some of the myths around money and markets, and give you a grounded, unfiltered understanding of how the current financial system works. When we understand reality, then we can do actual magic!

Clayos (meet by the fire)
Daniel Hernandez

CLAY - prima materia, biblical substance of human genesis, concoction of water and living earth, athenæum of geologic and fluvial forces.
CHAOS - amorphous mass from which the cosmos originated, dynamic non-hierarchical flow, a system of pragmatic ritual magical practices.
"Humble" derives from the Latin humus - earth. Clod - a lump of clay, and a simple person - is cognate with Clown.
CLAYOS is a safe space to discover what happens when we dance with 200 litres of clay and water. Here in this womb we meet matter at its most earthy, messy, and elemental. A time of levelling - hands and bodies dirty, down on the ground - leaving aside the perpetual reasonings of the mind in favour of direct encounter with matter, and with each other.

18:00 - 19:00
Living Human Art - A Collective Photographic Exploration
(meet by the fire) Eliska Kira & Hago

An open invitation to co-create a living human artwork through movement, presence, photography and sound. Together we'll explore fluid shapes, connection, play and collective expression by the water ~ allowing the essence of the festival to become something tangible, embodied and alive.
